MARKET SUMMARY

The number of floating houses for sale increased from 23 this Spring to around 50 this summer, which is low, but inventory has dropped, making buyers' house searches difficult. We need more inventory. The pace of new buyer inquiries and showings remains strong.

The number of slips available which can accommodate floating houses is low and is dropping as slips fill up. We estimate the total number of both rented and owned slips available for floating houses, including both what is in the RMLS and also rental slips currently available, at approximately 15 across the entire river system.

Graham Marden, GRI and John Wesley McPherson, Jr., CFA joined forces in December, 2015 at Premiere Property Group, LLC, the largest real estate brokerage in the Pacific Northwest. We look forward to helping you with your real estate needs on land or water. Graham has helped clients buy and sell over 200 floating homes. John has worked in finance and real estate for the past 20+ years, including in residential and commercial real estate, commercial real estate finance, energy commodities trading and transaction structuring. John lives in a floating house.
